I am originally from the beautiful North of England and I love exploring and discovering new exciting and innovative ideas in design. My background is in photography, fashion, illustration and more recently web design and development. I have since worked for 4 years at a leading creative agency in Germany and was responsible for writing and producing digital marketing resources as well as designing websites and collateral for some of Europe's largest brands. The design industry can be very confusing and I find that the language of branding and marketing can sometimes be daunting. I love creating design to help brands make their work enjoyable and memorable. For me, good design is about telling a story. Latest Work Latest Work Flying Dog Lager: An exclusive limited edition branding package for Flying Dog Brewery including a full brand revamp, 10 new print advertising campaigns, website and 4 x 16" cans. Pepsi: A rebranding of the classic promo cans for the brand Pepsi. These new cans are crisp and modern and they bring the rich history of the brand to the fore. Size Matters: A brand identity revitalization for Size Matters, a health and beauty company that aim to make women feel and look good in every size. The identity makes a clear statement of how Size Matters aims to be a positive differentiator in the beauty market. It balances a unique brand personality
