FIFA is a family of sports video games developed by EA Canada and published by EA Sports. The FIFA franchise is the best-selling sports video game franchise of all time. What is FIFA 20? FIFA 20 is EA SPORTS FIFA's 21st game in the franchise. Developed from the ground up to take advantage of this generation's powerful hardware, FIFA 20 allows you to play any game mode on any pitch, on any surface, from anywhere around the world. Why are we making this announcement now? The development of FIFA 20 has been more extensive than we've ever tried before. We've used this time to make some key changes that will improve the game for players around the world, plus we've added a few new features that we think will make FIFA 20 the best game in the franchise's history. We have three days from the launch of FIFA 20 to be able to inform the worldwide player base that we're going ahead with the launch of FIFA 20, and that we'll have more details on its features and some other game content soon. What do you mean "more?" First, let me walk you through what we've been working on: Gameplay improvements and additions to the game. This year there are some fundamental gameplay updates and other game elements, including: the AI on defense, the Handling and Skill Moves, the Pass and Shoot AI, and a new marker designed to help match scouts in terms of helping them gauge what level of player will suit your club's style of play. Large-scale, high-resolution game modes, including leagues, cups, and finals. This year we're making an even bigger leap with four new game modes for FIFA 20: Clubs, Eliminator, 16 Teams, and Pro Clubs (where the world's best players compete against each other instead of the clubs they play for), which will be introduced and tested in the FIFA Ultimate Team Game Mode. A brand-new, all-new game engine. The new game engine is one of the most ambitious projects of the entire FIFA series to date. It allows us to do some incredibly cool things, including helping us bring the game closer to the real thing with authentic player animations, a host of new animations, and new lighting techniques that aren't found in any other football game.
